-  The Little Girl' is the story of a girl, Kezia who was afraid of father.
-  She would often get nervous and stutter while talking to him. She longed for his love and affection like her neighbour Mr Macdonald.
-  Once she was kept indoors as she was affected by cold. Her grandmother told Kezia about her father's birthday and suggested that she could make a gift for her father.
-  Kezia decided to make a pin-cushion for him. Kezia made a beautiful pin-cushion; but accidentally she made a mistake. She filled it with bits of paper that she got by tearing her father's important speech.
-  Father whipped Kezia with a ruler after knowing the truth. This incident further estranged Kezia from her father.
-  One day Kezia's mother got ill and Kezia was alone at home.
-  Alice, the cook, put her into the bed and asked her not disturb her father.
-  That night she got a horrible nightmare and started screaming.
-  Her father came and took her to his bed.
-  She lay still with him and realised that her father was not a cruel man. He loved and cared for her in his own way and he had got a big heart.
